ABOUT THE TRAINING PROGRAMME

The assessment and accreditation (A& A) process has globally served as a sustainable mechanism for the improvement and maintenance of quality in higher education institutions (HEIs). Accordingly, such periodic assessments for universities and colleges on quantitative and qualitative aspects have gained wide significance since the last two decades. After the introduction of the revised accreditation framework (RAF) by the NAAC, the assessment parameters have experienced significant improvement in India to improve the academic standards, especially considering the preparedness for implementation of the National Education Policy (NEP).

This training programme is an initiative to introduce and clarify different aspects of the Benchmarks published by NAAC and provide an overview of quality initiatives of an educational institution.
